

Call for Papers

Value and Valuation Practices Emerging from Economics, Sociology, and Management

Paper Development Online Workshop

May 14th, 2024

Dear participants of last year's workshops in Berlin (September 2023) and Lisbon (June 2023),

We would like to promote research and publication opportunities on value and valuation with an invitation to participate in an online workshop on May 14th, 10:30 am—(approximately) 4:00 pm (CET). We invite research proposals that address value and valuation practices emerging from economics (e.g., political economy), sociology (e.g., new economic sociology), and management (e.g., public management or public policy). This specification is not intended to exclude research traditions, but rather to specify general lines of thought that may be present in many research areas or approaches.

The workshop aims to identify clusters of topics and/or papers suitable for submission to a prestigious journal interested in this flourishing field. Thus, the workshop is not the place to discuss papers in an early stage of development. We welcome expressions of interest in participating in this workshop in response to this invitation.

Estimated time for presentations is 15 minutes. Please submit an extended abstract (up to 1500 words, including references) by March 28th, 2024 to

Lúisa Veloso, Luisa.Veloso@iscte-iul.pt

Alexandr  Manuel Vianna e Silva, Alexandre.Silva@iscte-iul.pt

Jens Maesse, jens.maesse@sowi.uni-giessen.de

Michaela Haase, Michaela.Haase@fu-berlin.de